

A true friend.

Trust is the basic currency of all online transactions. Much like the bond of trust found between best friends, Todos A200 Optic is your reliable partner when securely moving funds between accounts, beneficiaries and merchants.

This robust and user-friendly device is simply put in front of your screen to enable an optical link that captures data used to sign transactions. The same data users would normally enter using a keypad or receive through a USB-cable.

Security in a blink of an eye

A200 Optic makes the process of performing secure online transactions easier than ever. With the device in place reading the flashing barcode on the screen, the data needed for authentication and signature generation is instantly transmitted.

Forgiving and full of positive feedback

The A200 Optic comes with high quality optic lenses and signal processing allowing more forgiving scanning angles and brightness. Further, it gives feedback to the user regarding connection quality as well as with a progress bar. Just to keep you updated.

The A200 Optic allows for up to 45° (+/- 20°) tilt without losing connection, and comes with a connection quality bar.

Of course, this trustworthy friend requires no software installation to further enable unmatched convenience.

100% dedicated and devoted

The A200 Optic is fully compliant with industry-standards such as HHD 1.3.2 and HHD-UC 1.0.1. This means that its “by-the-book” approach combined with its classic bank-card design vouches for a familiar and pleasant sensation while using it to secure transactions online.

Personal in every aspect

Every millimeter of the A200 Optic’s well-designed front is brandable. Use this space to communicate your bank’s – or why not your customer’s – own brand and image. Top it all off with your own favourite colour for the frame.
